

This past year has seen successful Alpha Courses taking place with upwards of 20 people taking part. The challenge is always being able to facilitate an ongoing programme which enables new Christians to grow in their faith.

At Christmas St Pauls was part of the Step into Christmas event in the Royal Square where leaflets were given out for Alpha, and Christmas, and a Carol Service along with various activities by other churches took place.

It is hoped that as we move forward the church will be open for a few hours each day during the week.

With Easter approaching it is the perfect time to begin praying for courage and the opportunity to invite friends family and acquaintances to Easter services, they might say no but on the other hand they might say yes and that could be for them the best decision they ever make. Last year we saw so many people at the Easter Day service we were nearly out the door - let's pray that happens again. Outreach is something for us all, we can all play a part in.
